

“Before we had a faculty union, discipline and dismissal for cause guidelines were largely absent. Negotiators bargaining during the early 1990’s transformed a vague paragraph—involving a meeting with a faculty member called by an administrator—into Article 22 as it exists today, including substantive arbitration.” Dr. Roberta Allen, College of Business, Business Information Systems department faculty member, 1979-2012.

Sponsored by: Western’s Association of Retired Faculty

